*Item Three: Add section VII.8 Election oversight shall be the responsibility of the Rising Winds Board of Directors.

a. Upon close of an election the two members holding the election have 24 hours to forward the election results to the RWBOD Chairman. If the RWBOD Chairman is one of the two holding the election then he/she shall appoint an RWBOD member to fill the position of Chairman for the purposes of election oversight.

i. The results will not contain the names of individual voters but will have the results listed by subgroup for verification purposes

b. The RWBOD Chairman then has 24 hours to review the results.

i. If the RWBOD Chairman validates the results by declaring the election to be fair and ethical the results, listed by final vote count only, will be posted to the Rising Winds Yahoo Group.

ii. If the RWBOD Chairman feels that there is unfair or unethical behavior in the election he will inform the full membership of the RWBOD

c. The full membership of the RWBOD shall have 120 hours (5 days) to pursue an investigation of the results.

i. The investigation may lead to disciplinary action against any member found to be involved in improper behavior in the election. This may include removing the right of one or more candidates and/or voters from participating in the election.

ii. If the investigation finds that one or both of the members conducting the election are compromised in some fashion the RWBOD may replace one or both of them with members in good standing from the list submitted by the Prime Minister.

d. Before the end of the 120 hours the RWBOD shall hold a vote to validate the results or to hold a new election.

i. If the election results are validated the RWBOD shall post to the Rising Winds Yahoo Group the investigation results and the final vote count for the election.

ii. If the RWBOD votes to have a new election they shall post to the Rising Winds Yahoo Group the reasons for the new election, the list of valid candidates, and the list of valid voters. The new election shall commence from the time of the posting of the information to the Rising Winds Yahoo Group to noon on Saturday of the event (Coronation or Midreign) that is
